President's Message

April and Spring are here. Is your calendar full? There certainly is a lot going on. Take a look at that calendar - April Fools, the Easter Season, Passover, Earth Day, Administrative Professionals Day and last but not least your COFAX committee is putting the final touches on the COFAX awards banquet that will take place May 7th at the Cheyenne Mountain Resort.

Do you have all of the above on your calendar? I hope you have most of them, especially COFAX. This promises to be a great evening. We had many deserving applications from which winners will be chosen by Board members of the Madison, Wisconsin Chapter. Madison was the IFMA Small Chapter of the Year. Also this year, we have a guest speaker of national reputation - Corey Ciocchetti, and greater involvement from the Denver Chapter as their president John McDonough will be our MC for the evening. Please watch for COFAX announcements and I hope to see you all there.

Now for a follow up to last month's message. Have any of you considered volunteering for upcoming open Board positions and becoming more involved in your Facilities Management Community? Positions open for the next two year commitment are: Sponsorship Chair, COFAX chair, Membership Chair, Treasurer and possibly Auction Bucks Chair. If you have any questions regarding the duties, talk to any Board member.

I look forward to seeing you all at our April luncheon featuring guest speaker, Michael Zunk from Firestone Building Products. Have a great Month,

Sincerely,
Jerry Ludke

IFMA Unveils Sustainability Facility Professional Credential

IFMA is pleased to announce its newest credential, the Sustainability Facility Professional™. More than a building certification and rating system, the SFP™ will help facility professionals play a key leadership role in creating, managing and operating sustainable facilities by giving them the skills they need to impact their organizations' economic, environmental and social bottom lines.

Professionals can earn the new designation through the SFP Credential Program™, which offers complete training and assessment materials in three course areas: Strategy and Alignment for Sustainable Facility Management, Managing Sustainable Facilities and Operating Sustainable Facilities. Taken together, these courses provide a complete picture of how SFPs can improve the sustainability of their facilities in the eight major categories of sustainability defined by IFMA: energy, water, materials and resources, workplace management, indoor environmental quality, quality of services, waste, and site impact.

The SFP Credential Program will equip practitioners to: integrate sustainability efforts with their organizations' values and strategies, present a business case for sustainability initiatives, evaluate their efforts from a financial perspective, and track and report their progress. In sum, achievement of the SFP will demonstrate a proven comprehension of environmental stewardship and sustainability in facility management.

To find out more about how you can attain this credential, go to <http://www.ifma.org/> .

DON'T MISS COFAX IX!!

May 7th, 2011
Cheyenne Mountain Conference Resort
6:00 – 10:00 pm

This year's COFAX awards banquet will have a new refreshed agenda . We are proud to present our keynote speaker, Corey Ciocchetti.

Corey speaks to thousands of individuals each year about “authentic success” and living an ethical life and is the author of the book Real Rabbits: Chasing An Authentic Life. Corey is an Assistant Professor of Business Ethics and Legal Studies in the Daniels College of Business at the University of Denver. He is one of the University's most popular and highest-rated professors. Corey joined DU after graduating with a law degree from Duke University School of Law, a Masters degree in Religious Studies and two Bachelors degrees in Finance and Economics – summa cum laude – from the University of Denver.

In August 2006, Corey won the Charles Hewitt Master Teacher competition at the national meeting of the Academy of Legal Studies in Business and, in March 2007, Corey was awarded the Outstanding Professor of the Year Award by the University of Denver Alumni Association. He has been selected as a finalist for the 2008 "Inspire Integrity" Awards. He currently teaches classes on Business Ethics, Business Law, Employment Law and Constitutional Law in a department ranked by the Wall Street Journal in the top ten worldwide for producing students with high ethical standards.

A Colorado native, Corey resides in Westminster, Colorado with his wife Jillian.

Disney Quality Service

Hosts

Thank you Pikes Peak Chapter of IFMA for allowing me to attend the Disney Institute Seminar
“Disney’s Approach to Quality Service”

This was one of the best seminars I have ever attended. There were over 250 attendee’s people from all different lines of work. IFMA members, Compassion International, water district of Arapahoe County, Hotel employees, Colorado Springs Utilities and Peoples Bank just to name a few.

The ideas presented in the seminar whether not only how DISNEY handles Quality Service but how they define it, how they implement it, how the constantly change and adapt their Quality Service. This seminar enabled you to look at whatever your scope of influence is within your own organization and adapt any of the ideas or suggestions presented. All of the suggestions made were very important here are a few:

- *Exceed your customer’s expectations – plan how you can achieve this
- * Pay attention to every detail of delivery – people are talking about you right now through verbal written social media. How do you present?
- * All clients’ customers will have the intent to return and or return and recommend – how do you benchmark your customer’s experience

Again what a great experience! I will attend again next year and be bringing along some of our Management Team!
Thanks Again!
